

Safe, efficient and simple to operate, it meets all of your performance requirements

Safe:

A high-capacity pressure relief valve has been incorporated as an integral part of the coupler body. This serves two purposes: First, when functioning with other relief devices in the system, it will prevent a keg from reaching pressure in excess of recommended working pressure. Second, it allows the user to relieve pressure when needing to prevent or troubleshoot dispensing problems.

Efficient:

Designed for maximum flow, it can be used for either single or a series of keg dispensers.

Specially designed pressure inlet nipple eliminates the need for a coupling washer when used with standard Taprite check valve.

Flow of gas is controlled by lever handle; in up position pressure is off, when down it is on.

The coupler can be quickly disassembled for cleaning and periodic service. No special tools required.

D System - Most common system available in the US, also known as American Sankey. Used by all the major breweries - Anheuser-Busch, Miller, Molson, Coors and Labatt as well as most craft breweries.
